6. Highlights:

Asansol Engineering College is one of the few prestigious institutes who has received TEQIP fund from World Bank. In order to provide wide exposure to industry, the college has set up an Industry Institute Partnership Cell (IIPC) with a grant from AICTE and an Entrepreneurship Development Cell (ED Cell).

The College was established in the year 1998 with a mission to impart quality technical education matching the consultancy changing global standards. The college is approved by All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE) and is affiliated to Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology (MAKAUT) formerly known as West Bengal University of Technology (WBUT). With a humble start with four Departments consisting of 180 students, it has passed a number of glorious moments and now boasts of even Engineering Departments (ECE, CSE, IT, EE, ME, CE and AEIE) with two Post Graduate Engineering Courses in ECE and EE along with BBA, BCA and MCA with about 3300 students from all over India. The college has students chapters / memberships on ISHRAE, ISLE, CSI, IGBC, Tech Club, Hardware Club, Institute of Engineers (India) & IEEMA. The College is facilitated with Rain Water Harvesting Centre and the whole college (including hostel) premises is under CCTV surveillance. The College believes that the learning experience must result in the enhancement of the capabilities of the individual for actual practice and must develop an individual with values and social responsiveness. To the end, the learning process is an output of : Classroom Teaching with Multimedia Support, Practical & Laboratory based Classes, Group Discussion and Soft Skill Development Programmes, Regular Appraisal System with periodic feedback to guardians, In campus and Off Campus Pro-Industry, value added training programmes and seminars, Aptitude test preparation etc.
